2nd Verse. My boy is coming from the war, I've waited for him
"My boy is coming from the war," "He's coming home to long, I miss the mu - sic of his laugh, His light and hap - py song; But me," "O! how I long to see his face," And hear his voice of glee. Of now I'll clasp him in my arms And ev - er by my side, He'll all the days that ev - er dawned This is the brighest day, For lin - ger while my life glides on To qui - et e - ven - tide.

sad and lone - ly was my heart When Har - ry went a - way.
CHORUS.
My boy is coming from the war He's coming home to me, O!
how I long to see his face, And hear his voice of glee.

My boy is coming from the war
The mother fondly said,
While on the gory battle plain
Her boy was lying dead!
His comrades came with lightsome steps
And sound of martial drum,
But now that Mother sadly waits
For one who'll never come!

Chos. My boy is coming from the war
The Mother fondly said,
While on the gory battle plain
Her boy was lying dead!
